PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATIONS

Your Advisor has achieved the designations below. If you would like additional information you may discuss with your advisor or visit the issuing entities website.

AIF®-Accredited Investment Fiduciary

The AIF® Designation certifies that the recipient has specialized knowledge of fiduciary standards of care and their application to the investment management process. To receive the AIF® Designation, the individual must: (1) meet prerequisite criteria based on a combination of education, relevant industry experience, and/or ongoing professional development, (2) complete a training program, (3) successfully pass a comprehensive, closed-book final examination under the supervision of an approved proctor, and (4) agree to abide by the AIF® Designee Code of Ethics. In order to maintain the AIF® Designation, the individual must annually attest to being in compliance with the AIF® Designee Code of Ethics, and accrue and report a minimum of six hours of continuing education. The AIF® Designation is administered by the Center for Fiduciary Studies, the standards-setting body of fi360.

AWMA®-Accredited Wealth Management Advisor

The AWMA® designee obtains advanced, yet practical knowledge about critical aspects of the financial services industry. Coursework includes asset management, allocation and selection; investment performance and strategies; and taxation issues pertaining to investments for a broad range of investors including small business and deferred compensation plans. The AWMA® is issued by the College of Financial Planning. While there are no prerequisites the designee is required to participate in 15 self-study modules with a final online, closed-book, proctored exam. In addition, the designee is required to complete 16 hours of continuing education every two years.

CFS®-Certified Fund Specialist

A Certified Fund Specialist® is able to evaluate and compare financial measurements and benchmarks arming them with the knowledge and tools needed to construct a suitable and efficient portfolio for their clients. The CFS® is issued by the Institute of Business & Finance. Pre-requisites require the designee to hold either a Bachelor's degree or one year of financial services work experience. The designee then completes six self-study modules with three comprehensive exams and a case study. In addition, the designee is required to complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years.

CRPS®-Chartered Retirement Plan Specialist

The CRPS® program is specifically targeted to provide professionals the knowledge and tools to design, install, and maintain retirement plans for the business community. The CRPS® is issued by the College of Financial Planning. While there are no pre-requisites for the CRPS® the designee must complete an online, instructor led or self-study courses complete with a final online, closed book, proctored exam. In addition, the designee must complete 16 hours of continuing education every two years.

OTHER BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

In addition to serving as your investment advisory representative Timothy P. Hayes is engaged in the following business activities:

Insurance Agent/Sales - Tim Hayes

Renting my home - Tim Hayes

There are certain business activities in which an investment advisor representative may engage that present potential conflicts of interest. If applicable, additional disclosure relevant to your Advisor's outside business activities are outlined below. Please note that these are potential conflicts of interest and it is your Advisor's fiduciary duty to act in your best interest. If you have any questions about the disclosures please ask your Advisor as this is an opportunity to better understand your relationship and your Advisor's activities.

Your advisor is also a registered representative with Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. ("Cambridge") a registered securities broker/dealer, member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investors Protection Corporation (SIPC). When acting as a registered representative of Cambridge, your advisor may sell, for commissions, general securities products such as stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and variable annuity and variable life products to advisory clients. Clients are not obliged to purchase or sell securities through Cambridge or their Advisor. However, if you choose to establish an account with your Advisor, it is important to understand that due to regulatory constraints, your Advisor must place all purchases and sales of securities products in commission-based accounts through Cambridge or other institutions approved by Cambridge.

The receipt of commissions may create an incentive for your Advisor to recommend those products for which they will receive a commission. Consequently, the objectivity of the advice rendered to clients could be biased. Your Advisor controls for this potential conflict of interest by discussing with clients their specific needs, the benefits and negatives of establishing a fee-based account through CIRA versus establishing a commission-based account through Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. and also the compensation arrangements under the different scenarios.

Your Advisor may receive 12b-1 fees from certain mutual fund companies as outlined in the fund's prospectus. 12b-1 fees are considered distribution or marketing fees and come from fund assets and indirectly from client assets through fund expenses. There are numerous reasons why your Advisor may recommend a certain mutual fund but it is possible the receipt of such fees represents an incentive for your Advisor to recommend funds with 12b-1 fees over funds that have no fees or lower fees. 12b-1 fees can be earned in fee-based accounts managed by CIRA if 12b-1 fee paying mutual funds are held in the managed account. In such a situation, your Advisor will discuss the selection of a 12b-1 or other trail paying mutual funds. CIRA and your Advisor may lower or offset the management fee by the amount of 12b-1 fees and other commissions received in the event such types of compensation are received. CIRA does not require this fee offset for ERISA and other qualified accounts.

Your Advisor is independently licensed to sell insurance and annuity products through various insurance companies. When acting in this capacity, your Advisor will receive commissions for selling insurance and annuity products. Clients may choose any independent insurance agent and insurance company to purchase insurance products and are not obligated to purchase insurance products through your Advisor. Regardless of the insurance agent selected, the insurance agent or agency may receive normal commissions from the sale. The receipt of compensation and other potential incentive benefits creates an incentive to recommend products to clients. At the time of any recommendations your Advisor will discuss the products, your needs and any compensation arrangements.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

In addition to the description of other business activities outlined above, your Advisor may receive additional benefits from CIRA when assets are held through investment management platforms offered by CIRA, which may include CIRA's CAAP program (also described in CIRA's Disclosure Brochure). The benefits received are in addition to the advisory fees received by your Advisor for serving as the investment advisor representative to the client's account. These benefits include but are not limited to discounts on performance reporting software and participation in conferences.

Certain product sponsors may provide your Advisor with economic benefits as a result of your Advisor's recommendation or sale of the product sponsors' investments. The economic benefits received can include but are not limited to, financial assistance or the sponsorship of conferences and educational sessions, marketing support, incentive awards, payment of travel expenses, and tools to assist your Advisor in providing various services to clients. These economic benefits may be received directly by your Advisor or indirectly through CIRA and/or Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. who have entered into specific arrangements with product sponsors. These economic benefits could influence your advisor to recommend certain products/programs over others. Please review the CIRA and Cambridge Revenue Sharing Disclosure located at www.cir2.com for further information. It is also available upon request.

Your Advisor's investment advisory activities are supervised by Allison McNamara. Allison McNamara monitors the recommendations provided by your Advisor and any transactions that are executed in your advisory accounts. Supervision is conducted through electronic reporting as well as personal communications and visits with your Advisor.
